

Problems in Analysis

Mark Lawrence

Any interested student is welcome to talk to me. They should have at least a B in Real Analysis and Complex Analysis.

When I talk to a student, I can find out how their interests might align with things I could give them to do.

Just for reference, here are answers to questions students might ask:

- A capstone with me is not likely to lead to a publication.
- Both of my capstone students have gone on to PhD programs.
